

DIANE JACKSON

LSW Adjunct Staff

Diane Jackson is a Master of Social Work (MSW) graduate from Case Western Reserve University. Her leading goals are obtaining the Licensed Independent Social Worker (LISW) designation and upstarting her own Private Practice. She actively volunteers at local community events and has been a volunteer at the Franklin County Children Services- Crisis Center for many years.

Diane seeks to help individuals, families, and couples by utilizing an array of therapeutic approaches including Trauma Informed Care, Cognitive Behavioral Therapy and Solution Focused Therapy. Currently she enjoys working with a variety of clients who are experiencing trauma, anxiety, depression, attachment issues, family, and cultural issues. Diane's foundational principles are based on her faith and guided by the belief in Philippians 4:13. Her primary focus is to help her clients build the skills and tools necessary to live their best lives and be their happiest selves!
